

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An optical disk player has a carrier having an accomodation space provided along a side edge thereof, and a modular deceleration device that is coupled to the accomodation space. The deceleration device has a module case body that is formed in one piece, and a plurality of gears, all of which are attached to the module case body.